

References Pertaining to Equine Head Trauma

1. Avella, C. S., and Perkins, J. D. (2011). Computed tomography in the investigation of trauma to the ventral cranium. Equine Veterinary Education 23(7), 333-338.
2. Furst, A., Jackson, M., Kummerle, J., Bettschart-Wolfensberger, R., and Kummer, M. (2010). Summary of current therapeutic measurements in head fractures of horses. Pferdeheilkunde 26(4), 503-+.
3. Gardelle, O., Feige, K., Geissbuhler, U., Geyer, H., Schmucker, N., Sydlar, T., and Kaser-Hotz, B. (1999). The use of computed tomography in two equine patients with basilar skull fractures. Schweizer Archiv fur Tierheilkunde 141(6), 267-272.
4. Gehlen, H., and Straub, R. (2003). Neurological diseases of the horse, importance for prepurchase examination in Germany. Praktische Tierarzt 84(7), 520-526.
5. Kramer, J., Coates, J. R., Hoffman, A. G., and Frappier, B. L. (2007). Preliminary anatomic investigation of three approaches to the equine cranium and brain for limited craniectomy procedures. Veterinary Surgery 36(5), 500-508.
6. Leblanc, P. H., and Brunson, D. B. (1986). Anesthetic Management of Equine Head Trauma - A Case-Report. Veterinary Surgery 15(3), 279-282.
7. Ramirez, O., Jorgensen, J. S., and Thrall, D. E. (1998). Imaging basilar skull fractures in the horse: A review. Veterinary Radiology & Ultrasound 39(5), 391-395.
8. Ruedi, M., Hagen, R., Luchinger, U., Furst, A., and Trump, M. (2011). Subluxation of C2 and C3 and fracture of C2 caused by severe head trauma in two warmblood horses. Pferdeheilkunde 27(5), 522-527.
9. Sargent, S. J., Frank, L. A., Buchanan, B. R., Donnell, R. L., and Morandi, F. (2006). Otosopic, cytological, and microbiological examination of the equine external ear canal. Veterinary Dermatology 17(3), 175-181.
10. Schaaf, K. L., Kannegieter, N. J., and Lovell, D. K. (2008). Management of equine skull fractures using fixation with polydioxanone sutures. Australian Veterinary Journal 86(12), 481-485.
11. Sinha, A. K., Hendrickson, D. A., and Kannegieter, N. J. (1991). Head Trauma in 2 Horses. Veterinary Record 128(22), 518-521.
12. Sogaro-Robinson, C., Lacombe, V. A., Reed, S. M., and Balkrishnan, R. (2009). Factors predictive of abnormal results for computed tomography of the head in horses affected by neurologic disorders: 57 cases (2001-2007). Javma-Journal of the American Veterinary Medical Association 235(2), 176-183.

13. Tremaine, H. (2004). Management of skull fractures in the horse. In Practice 26 (4), 214-+.